

Environmental Support and Advice

We live in an ever changing world, where environmental and sustainability issues are now more than just legislation but there is a social and moral responsibility placed on us all to help protect our planet. Your business needs processes that will help you and our planet flourish. C2C Group can provide a range of services including Environmental impact and aspects assessments, Site Environmental Inspections, and BREEAM AP service.

Our Service

Polluter Pays. If you pollute, you could get an unlimited fine, go to prison for up to 5 years, or both. You may also have to pay for the whole cost of the clean-up. There could be further costs such as paying compensation to third parties, higher insurance premiums or loss of contracts.

- Do you use polluting substances?
- Could you contaminate the water from your activities?
- Do you store materials or products?
- Do you generate waste?
- Do you have the potential to move pollutants?
- Are you involved in construction, inspection or maintenance activities?

If you have answered yes to any or all of these you will need to comply with your legal obligations and should follow the Plan, Do, Check, Act approach.

C2C Group are here to help, we have experienced Environmental and sustainability professionals with over 20 years of experience who have operated on both the Compliance and Operations side of our industry.

If required, we can also carry out:

- BREEAM AP Service
- Sustainability policies
- Incident Investigations
- Environmental and Sustainability training

Our experts are ready to connect with you and understand your needs.

Gain clarity and build confidence in your team.

The Solution

Plan

You will need to develop an environmental management system, but before you develop the plan, you must identify the environmental risks associated with your operations. C2C Group can help you develop

- Environment Impact & Aspects assessment
- Environmental policy highlighting your commitments to protect the environment
- Procedures or standards to set out how environmental issues are planned, managed and monitored in your business
- A pollution incident response plan

Do

You will need to ensure that the plans you have put in place, are trained and implemented throughout your business. C2C Group can help you develop a training and implementation programme, fit for your business. Using a combination of:

- In person training
- e-Learning modules
- Coaching sessions where required

Act

You will need to act up on any actions raised in the inspections or audits to ensure that lessons are learnt and the environmental management system remains effective for your business. C2C Group can help you by producing managed reports which:

- Identify compliance and best practice
- Look for trends occurring
- Highlight changes to the industry or compliance requirements
- Makes suggestions on how to improve performance.

Check

You will need to ensure that the systems you have put in place are fit for purpose and are managing the risk, you will also need to audit the compliance levels throughout the business. C2C Group can help by conducting environmental and sustainability inspections or audits, these include:

- A site walk around to spot the hazards
- A desktop review of the compliance documentation
- Engagement of the operatives about their work and the risk associated with it and seek their feedback and suggestions on how to improve.
- Discussions with the project teams to gain an understanding of the work activities, project plans and constraints
- The identification of Environmental impacts or issues.
- Advise on how to maintain or improve the required Environmental and Sustainability standards.
- A formal record of the inspection on the agreed template that is communicated to the wider project team to ensure that the findings of the report are understood and actionable.
